academy in Persiaran Duta, yesterday, were the investigations into the National Feedlot Corporation (NF-Corp) scandal and the Kelantan menteri besar's son-in-law Abdul Ariffahmi Abdul Rahman.

Hadenan said the probe into NF-Corp, which focused on allegations that Datuk Seri Shahrizat Abdul Jalil was involved in obtaining approval for the RM250 million government soft loan, was also still ongoing.

"The investigation papers were submitted to the A-G but he gave the investigators further instructions."

It was alleged that Shahrizat, who is the women, family and community development minister and also the wife of NFCorp chairman Datuk Seri Dr Mohamed Salleh Ismail, was involved in getting the loan approved.

"We feel that this case should be concluded quickly to be fair to the persons involved."

On Ariffahmi's case, the panel also announced that they agreed with the A-G's recommendation that the case be closed due to lack of evidence.

"The accusations against him were that he misused Kelantan Menteri Besar Incorporated (KMBI) funds to purchase flight tickets for his wife to Kuala Lumpur and Dubai, purchase a cake and contributed to a Pas assemblyman."

Hadenan said all the allegations surfaced because there was no proper financial system and procedure in place.
