

COWS MOURN BULL

DAIRY cows across the world are mourning the loss of "Jocko", ranked as the world's third most-potent breeding bull, who has died of natural causes leaving behind as many as 400,000 offspring. Jocko Besne had an industrious 17-year career donating some 1.7 million sperm straws that were used in France and abroad to keep alive the Prim' Holstein cattle strain, the main strain of black-and-white milking cow used in France. – Reuters
